“From Scratch to Pro“

This really is a challenge! Is it feasible to be a champion go-cart racer in just 48 hours? Could a person learn how to master parcouring or playing basketball in a wheelchair on such short notice? Or steering a BMX? Our host will try!

“From Scratch to Pro“ is a fun entertainment show that promotes sporting activities and social skills without being patronizing. The host is by far no extreme athlete, but he is not homebody either. Consider him the average hobby sportsman. Yet, he is driven by ambition and rises to the challenge by competing with skilled young pros. In addition, children and teenager who perfectly master the specific sport will help him.

At the end of each 25 minute episode the host will face an exam. He has to present what he has achieved: Has he gone from scratch to pro?
